The IPC is an independent integrity agency that supports the Information Commissioner and the Privacy Commissioner to oversight the NSW public sector in relation to privacy and information access laws.

Our functions:

- ✓ promotes and protects privacy and information access rights in NSW
- ✓ provides information, advice, assistance and training for agencies and individuals on privacy and access matters
- ✓ investigates and conciliates complaints relating to public sector agencies, health service providers (both public and private) and some large organisations that deal with health information
- ✓ provides feedback about the legislation and relevant developments in the law and technology.
- ✓ Receives and reports on eligible data breach notifications.

Five Questions...

Data breaches

- Where a referral relates to a data breach – consider who the entity is that has experienced the breach
- The Mandatory Notification of Data Breach Scheme applies to NSW public sector agencies
- Data breaches involved private sector organisation should be referred to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) as they fall within the jurisdiction of the Privacy Act 1988

Tips to preventing breaches

For you:

- ✓ Ensure you are not sending personal information via email, use secure transfer methods
- ✓ Do not upload any PI to third party sites or platforms such as ChatGPT or Co-pilot
- ✓ Disable auto-populate function in your email
- ✓ Double check email recipients before sending
- ✓ Set email delays
- ✓ Being mindful when sending group emails and use BCC where relevant

For your agency:

- ✓ Implement privacy training programs for all staff and specialist training for key staff
- ✓ Foster a culture of privacy and security awareness
- ✓ Enable use of Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA)
- ✓ Conduct regular phising and cyber exercises
- ✓ Ensure appropriate privileged access is in place for accessing PI
