1. Establishment of the Information and Privacy Advisory Committee (IPAC) and Appointments

The IPAC:

- is established to provide ongoing strategic advice to government, and to facilitate knowledge sharing and collaboration across government, industry and academia
- is chaired by the NSW Information Commissioner Ms Elizabeth Tydd and will advise the Information and Privacy Commission (IPC), the Minister for Customer Service and Digital Government, Minister for Small Business and Minister for Fair Trading (the Minister for Customer Service), and the Attorney General
- draws together expertise that can address the unique challenges faced by government and the community in the digital age where technology, service delivery and consumer expectations are changing rapidly.

Appointment process

Responsibility for the legislation establishing the IPAC (the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (PPIP Act)), and therefore the appointments, is shared between the Minister for Customer Service and the Attorney General.

On 11 December 2020, the Minister for Customer Service issued a media release announcing that the NSW Government has appointed members to the IPAC. The new committee includes specialists from a range of sectors – including data science, technology, business and law.

The IPAC consists of the following members:

- Ms Elizabeth Tydd, CEO and Information Commissioner, IPC (Chairperson)
- Ms Samantha Gavel, Privacy Commissioner, IPC
- Dr Ian Oppermann, NSW Government Chief Data Scientist
- Mr Barry Sandison, Chief Executive Officer, Australian Institute of Health and Welfare

2. Background

With the creation of the Information and Privacy Commission NSW on 1 January 2011 by the merger of the Office of the Information Commissioner with Privacy NSW, a new single office was established to administer legislation about privacy and access to Government information in New South Wales.

The NSW Law Reform Commission, in its 2009 Report number 125 entitled The Offices of the Information and Privacy Commissioners, noted that the creation of a single office would help ensure that agencies and individuals receive consistent information and advice; would allow for coordinated training and assistance to be provided to agencies; and would help reduce 'referral fatigue' by providing a single point of contact.

The NSW Law Reform Commission also recommended the establishment of an IPAC. The PPIP Act was accordingly amended by the NSW Parliament to specify the composition of the IPAC, its functions and its procedures. The IPAC replaces the former Privacy Advisory Committee, broadening its focus to include information access matters and changing the nature of the membership.

3. Aims and objectives

The IPAC is an advisory body to the Information Commissioner and the Privacy Commissioner. It is not an operational governance body to the Commissioners and the IPC.

4. Terms of reference

1. To advise on matters relevant to the functions of the Information Commissioner and the Privacy Commissioner,
2. To advise the Minister on such matters as may be referred to it by the Minister.¹

The NSW Attorney General and the Minister for Customer Service are jointly responsible for the IPAC. References to “the Minister(s)” in these terms of reference and in this charter should be interpreted as referring to both the Attorney General and the Minister (except in relation to the Digital Restart Fund Act 2020 which is administered by the Minister for Customer Service).

³ Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (NSW) s 36; the Privacy Commissioner also has similar functions under s 58 of the HRIP Act with respect to the protection of health information

- b) to prepare and publish guidelines relating to the protection of personal information and other privacy matters, and to promote the adoption of such guidelines,
- c) to initiate and recommend the making of privacy codes of practice,
- d) to provide assistance to public sector agencies in adopting and complying with the information protection principles and privacy codes of practice,
- e) to provide assistance to public sector agencies in preparing and implementing privacy management plans in accordance with section 33,

- l) to conduct such inquiries, and make such investigations, into privacy related matters as the Privacy Commissioner thinks appropriate.

In addition to the functions set out above, both Commissioners have the function under section 10 of the Digital Restart Fund Act 2020 of providing advice to the Minister for Customer Service as to the effect that a project may have on access to government information under the GIPA Act and the protection of personal information under the PPIP Act or health information under the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002 (HRIP Act).
